Thoughts for Today's Readings

To the Point: Jesus often uses farming metaphors in his parables. The imagery is strong: seeds are mysterious little things. They are often small and easy to overlook; if we didn't know what they were we'd assume they were of little value. They are not living things on their own. But in the right conditions they grow into so much more. They blossom forth with life, providing food and shade and homes for wildlife. Those who grow plants from seed can only do so much. They can provide the right conditions with water and light. But in the end the growth is not up to them. In much the same way, God calls us to partnership. We have a role to play in bringing about God's kingdom. But in the end it's not really up to us; it is God who does the work.

To Experience: To plant a garden is to witness God's creative work. There are endless delights to discover in the growth of seedlings, the visits of pollinators, the complex interactions in the mini-ecosystems we construct. We can spend endless time planning a garden, but there is always mystery involved. We never have full control over how plants grow or where weeds take root or what pests choose to consume. All we can do is cooperate with nature's processes, setting conditions that might favor the outcome we desire. So it is with God—our spiritual journey is not one of control and accomplishment but one of cooperation and participation.

1. Name a "seed" in your life, something that seemed small but grew in ways you didn't expect.
2. Waiting for plants to blossom is slow work. Where do you struggle to have patience with God?
3. We might occupy any number of places in the botanical imagery of today's readings. We are seeds, planted and tended by God. We are also farmers, planting seeds in hope but unable to control the outcome. Which of these images resonates most with you? Why do you think that is?

Source: Living Liturgy 2024, Liturgical Press

This is how it is with the Kingdom of God;
 it is as if a man were to scatter seed on the land and would sleep and rise night and day and the seed would sprout and grow, he knows not how.

"We walk by faith and not by sight."
 2 Corinthians 5:7

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

This weekend you will receive the last monthly prayer card. At the beginning of the third millennium, Pope St. John Paul the Second wrote a message to all Christians, and indeed to the whole world. In that message, he expressed the earnest desire that parishes become genuine schools of prayer and that all Christians become serious disciples of the great Catholic traditions of prayer.

Leading a parish is a complicated business. It is all too easy to get lost in the details. At these times we forget our mission. Our mission is not to make a profit. We do not manufacture any product. We do not grow any crops. Jesus Christ gives us the mission: "Go into all the world and proclaim the gospel to the whole creation. Whoever believes and is baptized will be saved, but whoever does not believe will be condemned" (Mark 16:15-6, the Gospel for Ascension Sunday). Our mission is to first become disciples, and then to make more disciples. And by the clear words of Jesus, this mission affects the eternal salvation of souls.

Prayer keeps us focused on the mission. Without prayer, we inevitably get distracted by the minutia that simply does not have any eternal significance. Prayer is the only way to truly be a friend of Jesus. Without prayer, there is no friendship with Jesus. If we are not a friend of Jesus, how can we invite other people to join us?

Prayer is the only thing that Jesus asked for from his disciples in the Garden of Gethsemane. Jesus told his disciples that it was only by prayer and fasting that demons could be driven out. Last weekend I preached about "spiritual combat." The battle is real. Without prayer, we are going into this battle without weapons and without armor.

Apparitions of the Blessed Virgin Mary were rare in the early church but have been increasing. In each apparition, she shows great concern that countless souls are being lost and that evil is increasing. And at each apparition she calls us to greater prayer. Mary is preparing us, her children, for battle.

Blessings and prayer,
 Fr. Bill

* A selection of some of the more famous approved apparitions: Guadalupe, Mexico (1531), Laus, France (1664-1718), Rue de Boc, Paris, France (1830), La Salette, France (1846), Lourdes, France (1858), Champion, Wisconsin (1859), Filippsdorf, Czech Republic (1866), Fatima, Portugal (1917), Beauraing, Belgium (1932), Knock, Ireland (1936), Akita, Japan (1973), Kibeho, Rwanda (1981-1989).

Episode 124: Dryness in Prayer

Probably the most important relationship in our life is our relationship with God, and we are building that through prayer. Prayer is real – it's for everyone, but we know that prayer is not always easy. Sometimes it can even be really hard.

Our parish has a FORMED subscription. Visit formed.org/signup and select our parish.
